

2019 KMA Scholarship Winners

Late last year the KMA 2019 scholarships were offered through Edith Cowan University and Central Queensland University. Scholarships are worth $5,000 pa for 4 years and are to assist Aboriginal people from regional or remote communities in WA to study for a Bachelor of Education and then return to teach in schools in remote or rural communities where there is a high percentage of Aboriginal students.

It is very pleasing to announce that the scholarship recipients for 2019 are Malcolm Maloney and Michael Wohlrab. Both recipients are very worthy winners and are passionate about Aboriginal education. They are most appreciative of receiving Kate Mullin Association support in furthering their studies.

Malcolm Maloney

Malcolm Maloney from White Peak near Geraldton is now in his 3rd year of a primary school teaching degree through the Geraldton campus of Central Queensland University. He has been working in Geraldton district schools since 2012, and is now at Champion Bay Senior High School as an Aboriginal & Islander Education Officer.

Michael Wohlrab (with KMA Chair Ken Mullin)

Michael Wohlrab from Bunbury commenced his Bachelor of Education (Primary Education) studies this year at the South West Campus (Bunbury) of Edith Cowan University. He spent the past 12 months living and working in central and northern Australia to get a first hand appreciation of the education challenges that aboriginal people face.
